A small reminder:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SOME</th>
<th>ANY</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>is used in affirmative sentences</td>
<td>is used in questions and negations</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Meaning of these indefinite pronouns in German:

with the singular
etwas – irgendein with the plural einige

I) Fill in some or any.

I need ______ money. Sorry, I haven’t got ______.
My friend has ______ Australian stamps. Wow, I don’t have ______.
We are broke, mum. Please give us ______ money.
We have ______ apple trees in our garden. Do you have ______ apple trees?
Can you come to me? No, sorry, I don’t have ______ time.
There are ______ boys in the classroom, but not ______ girls.
I am very hungry. I would like to get ______ food. Is there ______ food in the house?

II) What is there for breakfast? Write some sentences.

There are some cornflakes.

_____________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________
A small reminder:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>EVERY</th>
<th>EACH</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>all of them</td>
<td>(of)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>unlimited numbers</td>
<td>a limited number</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

III) Every or each? Fill the gaps with either every or each.

Every bird has feathers and two legs.
Every mouse has a long tail.
Every child in this class speaks two languages.
Every of you should come to school tomorrow.
We should eat vegetables _______ day.
In some countries shops are open _______ day of the week.
The students have _______ got their own desk.

A small reminder:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ALL</th>
<th>ALL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>with a singular</td>
<td>with a plural</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ganz</td>
<td>alle</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IV) Try to translate these few sentences into German.

All our milk comes from cows (and not from sheep).
Unsere ganze Milch stammt von Kühen (und nicht von Schafen).
The cat likes to sleep all day long.

All plants need water.

I answered all questions.

He is at the computer all the time.
A small reminder:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>words with EVERY</th>
<th>words with SOME</th>
<th>words with ANY</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>everybody</td>
<td>somebody</td>
<td>anybody</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>everything</td>
<td>something</td>
<td>anything</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>everywhere</td>
<td>somewhere</td>
<td>anywhere</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

V) Fill the gaps with words from the above grid.

Have you seen my mobile phone? I can’t find it ______________.
Well, it must be ______________ in the house.

He found ______________ in the street. ______________ must have lost it.

There was a wonderful show yesterday. ______________ enjoyed it.

We could not leave because ______________ did not find his ticket.

It is so loud here. Let’s go ______________ else.

______________ in this house looks quite expensive.

VI) Which word is correct? Only one answer is right.

I can’t go to the show. I haven’t got ______________ nice to wear.

a) everything    b) anything    c) something    d) somebody

Carol is the girl with ______________ in her hand.

a) anything      b) something    c) nothing     d) everything

If you want ______________ to eat, I can get it for you.

a) some          b) anything     c) anywhere    d) everything

Are my pencils on your desk? No, there ______________ on my desk.

a) aren’t anything b) isn’t anything  c) isn’t something  d) is something ______________ wants to get rich.

a) Not everybody b) Not anybody    c) Somebody     d) No everybody
Solutions:

I) Fill in some or any.

I need some money. Sorry, I haven’t got any.
My friend has some Australian stamps. Wow, I don’t have any.
We are broke, mum. Please give us some money.
We have some apple trees in our garden. Do you have any apple trees?
Can you come to me? No, sorry, I don’t have any time.
There are some boys in the classroom, but not any girls.
I am very hungry. I would like to get some food. Is there any food in the house?

II) What is there for breakfast? Write some sentences.

There are some cornflakes.
There is some bread.
There are some eggs.
There is some butter.
There is some milk.

III) Every or each? Fill the gaps with either every or each.

Every bird has feathers and two legs.
Every mouse has a long tail.
Each child in this class speaks two languages.
Each of you should come to school tomorrow.
We should eat vegetables every day.
In some countries shops are open each day of the week.
The students have each got their own desk.

IV) Try to translate these few sentences into German.

The cat likes to sleep all day long. Die Katze schläft gerne den ganzen Tag.
All plants need water. Alle Pflanzen brauchen Wasser.
I answered all questions. Ich beantwortete alle Fragen.
He is at the computer all the time. Er sitzt die ganze Zeit beim Computer.
Solutions:

V) Fill the gaps with words from the above grid.

Have you seen my mobile phone? I can't find it anywhere. Well, it must be somewhere in the house.
He found something in the street. Somebody must have lost it. There was a wonderful show yesterday. Everybody enjoyed it. We could not leave because somebody did not find his ticket. It is so loud here. Let's go somewhere else.
Everything in this house looks quite expensive.

VI) Which word is correct? Only one answer is right.

I can't go to the show. I haven't got a) everything b) anything c) something d) somebody to wear.

Carol is the girl with a) anything b) something c) nothing d) everything in her hand.

If you want a) some b) anything c) anywhere d) everything to eat, I can get it for you.

Are my pencils on your desk? No, there a) aren't anything b) isn't anything c) isn't something d) is something on my desk.

a) Not everybody b) Not anybody c) Somebody d) No everybody