Schularbeit

Reading (Gewichtung: 1/3)

Task 1
Read the text and questions below then choose the correct option, A, B, C or D.

Going Green
How green are you? Being green used to mean that you were young and inexperienced. Now people who call themselves green seem to think that they know better than the rest of us. But just how wise are these new Greens? How well do their ideas work in practice?

Take the example of what happened this week to Donna Challice, mother of three, from Exeter. She was actually taken to court by her local council for not recycling her rubbish. She was charged with putting food in the green recycling bin which is intended for cans, paper, plastic and glass. She faced a fine of up to £1,000 and the court case cost much more than that.

What a waste of the Court’s time and money. The reality is that recycling household rubbish is a waste of all our time. It takes hours and makes very little difference to the planet. Only 5% of our waste is made up of household rubbish, while a massive 60% is agricultural and industrial. Why doesn’t the council do something about that first!

And it isn’t only local government that is anxious to be green. We are surrounded by green thinkers. Have those people who refuse to accept nuclear energy thought about what renewable energy means? They say that 20% of our energy has to come from renewable sources such as wind and solar power. Can you imagine what our countryside will look like? There will be forests of giant wind turbines and nothing in the fields except oilseed rape to make bio-fuel. There is no real alternative to using more nuclear energy, so why don’t we focus on building new safer nuclear plants?

Q1 The expression ‘being green’
A has changed meaning over the years.
B describes a person who knows many things.
C is only used for young people.
D refers to people who are creative.

Q2 We learn that Donna Challice
A recycles everything she can.
B puts food in the wrong bin.
C has to pay £1,000 a year for recycling.
D only recycles glass and plastic.

Q3 According to the writer, recycling household rubbish
A is difficult.
B is a good use of our time.
C is ineffective.
D makes a big difference.

Q4 From the article we learn that
A there is 5% more industrial than agricultural waste.
B agriculture produces more waste than industry.
C the majority of waste does not come from households.
D 60% of household waste is taken away by councils.

What does the writer say about nuclear energy?
A ‘Green thinkers’ do not like it.
B It is safer than other energies.
C It produces 20% more energy than other sources.
D It makes the countryside look ugly.

Meera Syal

Recently, Meera Syal was named as the most influential black or Asian woman in Britain by Good Housekeeping Magazine. Born in Wolverhampton in 1962, soon after her parents arrived in the West Midlands from Delhi, she was the only Punjabi girl in the village and she was desperate to fit in. She often tells interviewers that she used to really want to be blonde and called Sharon. She was far from happy with who she was. Yet today she is one of the best-loved actresses and writers in Britain.

Her parents had expected she might become a doctor or a pharmacist. But Meera was determined to follow her own path. When she was just eighteen, her mother developed cancer and was given six months to live. Luckily she survived, but the experience left Meera even more determined to make the most of life. Meera studied Drama and English at university but, oddly, didn’t actually do much acting, saying that she wasn’t picked for the good parts. When she finished her first degree, she decided to write a play for herself to take to the Edinburgh Festival. The play, One of Us, won a national award that same year.

Her big breakthrough came in 1996 when she teamed up with friends to write and perform in the hit comedy show, Goodness Gracious Me, which laughed at both Indian traditions and British prejudice. That same year she published her first novel, Anita and Me, based on her childhood. Amazingly, both won awards and Meera became famous twice over. The following year she was awarded an MBE by the Queen.

Since then she has written another best-selling novel and both of her novels have been turned into films.

Task 3
You are going to read a story about four friends. Eight sentences have been removed from the text. Choose from the sentences (A - I) the one which fits each gap (14-20). There is one extra sentence which you do not need to use. Write your answers in the boxes after the text. There is one example at the beginning (0).

‘Being wet got us a train ban’

| Jo Talbot and her three friends, all 13, expected the summer holiday to end with a bang — not a ban ... 'My three friends Jo Cole, Sara, Nicola and I all live in a small village outside Southampton. Last August we took the train into the city to go shopping for clothes one last time before starting the new term. We got into Southampton at about 10 am. (0)  No-one wanted the summer holidays to end, but it was as good a way as any to give them a send-off. (Q14) We weren't far from the station when the sky went black and there was a huge clap of thunder. We all shrieked and ran for cover, but the rain came down so hard it was like standing in a power shower. but you're too wet to get on.’ (Q16) We were really fed up as we watched all the other passengers pull away, warm and dry. I couldn't believe they'd all avoided the rain, and got the feeling we were being picked on because we were kids. (Q17) We sat around freezing cold, until the next train came along but strangely, we had no problem getting on that one. (Q18) When I told my mum what had happened she was storming mad, and rang up South West Trains to ask them if they'd have treated an adult the same way. (Q19) Customer services rang back later to say that the guard had been taken off duty while the company held an investigation. |
When we got to the station a train was waiting to leave, so I asked a guard if it was the one going to our local station. He looked at us and said, ‘It is — It may not sound that bad, but the whole thing really spoiled our day. (Q20) _____’

Just Seventeen

A. We’d have been happy to stand if they were worried we’d wreck the seats, but now we had to wait half an hour without even enough money for a cup of tea.

B. All my mates’ mums wrote to the train company, asking if the same thing would have happened late at night, when we might have been put in real danger.

C. We were only caught in it for a minute but we were drenched – and were only wearing flimsy T-shirts and sweatshirts.

D. My friends and I were too shocked to argue, so we just let the train leave the station.

E. One thing is for sure, though, we’re all taking umbrellas next time we go shopping.

F. Eventually we wandered back to catch the 2 pm train home.

G. We’d just got on the motorway when the car began to make a loud cracking noise.

H. On the journey back, I could hardly stop shaking with cold, and when I got back home I got straight into the bath to warm up.

I. We tramped around the shops buying loads of stuff and then went for a burger.
